COVID-19 Resources - English

What is COVID-19?

COVID-19 (Coronavirus) is a new pathogen of high contagious abilities. Coronaviruses are a large group of viruses that are common among animals and humans. This novel coronavirus known as COVID-19 is a newly discovered coronavirus, not previously detected in animals or humans. The source of this virus is not yet known. Because it is a NOVEL virus it is not known, and no one has immunity. Global human health is at risk.

Background

FIGO has the expertise of member organisations and their leaders from around the globe. We recognise that our physicians, the first responders and staff, are providing frontline care, and are risking their lives.

We are sharing guidelines below but are cognizant that they are evolving rapidly.

FIGO recommendations based on timely information from our membership to capture these important topics:

A group of women, likely from the Mursi or Suri tribes, are shown in traditional attire. They wear multiple layers of colorful beaded necklaces and skirts. The background is a dry, natural environment with sparse vegetation. The text 'ON BEHALF OF FIGO' and 'THANK YOU' is overlaid in white on the image.
